I. Introduction

A. Background

1. In its resolution 42/25 of 27 September 2019, the Human Rights Council established the independent international fact-finding mission on the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela (hereinafter “the mission”). The mandate of the mission was extended in September 2019 through resolution 42/25,

2. <sup>1</sup> and in October 2022 through resolution 51/29, for an additional period of two years.<sup>2</sup>

3. The mission has the mandate to investigate gross violations of human rights, including extrajudicial executions, enforced disappearances, arbitrary detentions and torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment, including those related to sexual and gender-based violence, committed in the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela since 2014.<sup>3</sup>

4. The present conference room paper accompanies the report of the mission to the fifty-fourth session of the Human Rights Council (A/HRC/54/57) submitted in accordance with resolution 51/29.

5. In its first report to the Human Rights Council, presented in 2020, the mission identified the Special Action Forces (FAES) of the Bolivarian National Police Corps (PNB<sup>4</sup>) as one of the law enforcement agencies most engaged in the perpetration of crimes and serious human rights violations since 2017.<sup>5</sup> As stated in that report, the FAES was created in April 2016 as an “elite” tactical force within the PNB<sup>6</sup> and its members were described by several sources as unprofessional and “lacking in training”.<sup>7</sup> The mission concluded that the FAES became the most lethal security force in the country, responsible for 64.5% of the deaths the mission reviewed in 2019.<sup>8</sup>

6. In that report, the mission also concluded that there were reasonable grounds to believe that officers of the FAES and the Scientific, Criminal and Forensic Investigations Corps (CICPC) carried out extrajudicial executions, and that they did not act alone, but rather as part of brigades or squads. The mission found reasonable grounds to believe that other FAES or CICPC officers who had participated in the operations contributed to the commission of these violations and crimes. However, the mission was unable to identify these individuals by name.<sup>9</sup>

7. In addition, the mission found that the extrajudicial executions were not isolated acts, but that there was an agreed practice to kill persons with criminal records, or presumed to have such records, even if they did not resist arrest, in order to demonstrate “results” in the fight against crime.<sup>10</sup> The mission concluded that specific times and places were chosen to conduct the operations, and that police vehicles and firearms were used. The mission identified that members of the FAES and the CICPC acted jointly and performed different functions to ensure that there were no relatives, neighbours or other witnesses present, in order to cover up the crime scene and simulate alleged “resistance to authority”.<sup>11</sup> The mission recommended, as did the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights,<sup>12</sup>

to “[d]ismantle the FAES given the high number of extrajudicial executions carried out by this police force since its creation”.<sup>13</sup>

8. At the end of December 2020, media outlets reported that the FAES would be reformed.<sup>14</sup> In her 2022 report, presented to the Human Rights Council in June of that year, the High Commissioner indicated that the FAES had been officially dissolved as part of the restructuring of the PNB, which began in 2021.<sup>15</sup>

9. In March 2023, during its last oral update to the Human Rights Council, the mission reported that

[t]he FAES were formally dissolved in June 2022. However, information in possession of the mission indicates that their main functions, commands and members have been absorbed by the new Directorate of Strategic Actions and Tactics (DAET) as part of the Bolivarian National Police.<sup>16</sup>

10. Based on its investigations, the mission has reasonable grounds to believe that: first, there is an overlap between the functions of the former FAES and the Directorate of Strategic Actions and Tactics (DAET); second, both entities of the PNB share a same modus operandi; and third, within the high command of the DAET there are officials who led or were part of the FAES, as well as other security forces involved in human rights violations and crimes against humanity in the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela since at least 2014.

11. The mission also has reasonable grounds to believe that there is continuity between the FAES and the DAET. In addition, the mission has reasonable grounds to believe that officials whose participation in human rights violations has been denounced in the recent past – and in some cases, corroborated by the mission – have been kept by the Government in the top command positions of this police directorate.

B. Methodology

12. As in previous reports, the mission adopted the methodology and best practices developed by the United Nations for human rights fact-finding investigations. The mission applied the principles of independence, impartiality, objectivity, transparency and integrity. The working methodology which was used consisted of:

1) conducting confidential interviews, both in person and through secure telephone or video connections, with former FAES and SEBIN officials, witnesses of alleged human rights violations perpetrated by the FAES and the SEBIN, persons with access to internal DAET information, and victims’ lawyers and relatives;

2) collecting and analysing official documents, including organizational charts and criminal records, and public statements and declarations by authorities and public officials;

3) collecting and analysing documentary information from other sources, including civil society organizations, human rights organizations, media, and open sources; and

4) collecting and reviewing photographic and video information obtained from former FAES and SEBIN officials, from official web pages of the Venezuelan government and its security forces, from open sources and social networks (Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and YouTube).

13. The mission decided to publicly name the persons who held or hold positions of responsibility in the former FAES and the DAET, including senior officials and other commanders (infra, section III.4). Given the purpose of the present investigation, the mission did not arrive at any conclusions regarding the possible criminal responsibility of the aforementioned persons, and referred, where appropriate, to the conclusions already published in its previous reports. However, given the series of allegations of violations and crimes committed by officers working for these bodies, their possible criminal responsibility should be investigated by competent judicial authorities acting in full respect for procedural guarantees and due process norms.

II. Precursors of the DAET

A. The Operations for the Liberation of the People (OLPs) and the Operations for the Humanistic Liberation of the People (OLHPs)

14. As detailed in the mission's first report, the Operations for the Liberation of the People (OLPs) were joint military and police operations that were carried out since July 2015 with the aim, according to the Government, of combating organized crime, particularly drug trafficking, extortion, robbery, kidnapping and homicide.<sup>17</sup> The mission collected information that indicates that these operations may also have been aimed at "social cleansing".<sup>18</sup>

15. The OLPs were directed from the highest level of Government, as was confirmed by President Maduro himself, referring to the role of the Minister of the Interior in the OLPs.<sup>19</sup> State representatives stated on 19 occasions documented by the mission that the President had directly ordered OLPs.<sup>20</sup>

16. The OLPs were described by human rights organizations as a "carte blanche for the security forces to commit excesses and abuses against residents of working-class areas".<sup>21</sup> According to a report on the OLPs published by the Public Prosecutor's Office, the number of people who died in these operations in the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela between July 2015 and March 2017 was 505 (502 men, three women, including 27 minors).<sup>22</sup> Meanwhile, the mission recorded 413 people killed (306 men, including 16 minors, and three women) in the 140 cases<sup>23</sup> examined for the 2020 report. Eight of these cases involved up to 10 or more deaths in a single operation.<sup>24</sup> The mission's investigations confirmed that in several cases the security forces failed to comply with international standards for the use of lethal force and that human rights violations and crimes were committed.<sup>25</sup>

<sup>18</sup> In a televised statement, President Maduro accidentally referred to the OLPs as "cleansing" operations. Furthermore, according to former Attorney General, Luisa Ortega Díaz, when the Public Prosecutor's Office expressed concern about the high level of complaints received about the OLPs, the Minister of the Interior said that the orders had come from the President and that the order was to carry out a "social cleansing". 17. One of the operations that was most criticized was the one carried out in Barlovento, Miranda State, in October 2016.<sup>26</sup> In its 2020 report, the mission concluded that it had reasonable grounds to believe that this operation had particular characteristics, as it was carried out in accordance with a military plan (Plan Rondón) and with the leadership and sole participation of the Bolivarian National Armed Forces (FANB).<sup>27</sup> The mission concluded with reasonable grounds to believe that, during Operation Barlovento, arbitrary detentions, acts of torture, extrajudicial executions and forced disappearances were committed against 12 men.<sup>28</sup>

18. On 15 January 2017, following the public outcry caused by Operation Barlovento, the Government re-launched the OLPs under the name of "Operations for the Humanist Liberation of the People" (OLHPs).<sup>29</sup> The OLHPs were presented as "search units against paramilitarized gangs, criminal gangs that operate within a territory and subject that community to violence, to criminality",<sup>30</sup> and it was emphasized that they would respect human rights.<sup>31</sup>

19. The OLHPs were conducted under the joint responsibility of the Ministry of People's Power for Internal Relations, Justice and Peace (Ministry of the Interior) and the Ministry of People's Power for Defence (Ministry of Defence), unlike the OLPs, which were only under the responsibility of the Ministry of the Interior.<sup>32</sup>

20. In January 2017 the Government also approved the Action Protocol for the State Security Forces in the Operation of Humanist Liberation of the People<sup>33</sup> which defined the modes of participation and responsibilities of the Public Prosecutor's Office and the various security agencies, including the PNB, the CICPC, the Bolivarian Intelligence Service (SEBIN) and the state and municipal police.<sup>34</sup> The document also contains regulations on proportional use of potentially lethal force, medical assistance to injured and affected persons, notification of their families, and immediate communication of the facts to supervisors.<sup>35</sup>

21. According to different media outlets, the OLHPs began in January 2017 and were carried out until mid-July of the same year, that is, for just over six months.<sup>36</sup> In the operation carried out in the El Valle district of Caracas on 10 March 2017 alone, nine deaths and 50

arrests were registered.<sup>37</sup> In this case, the mission concluded that two brothers were extrajudicially executed by PNB anti-drug agents and that their relatives were victims of arbitrary detention.<sup>38</sup>

B. The Special Action Forces (FAES)

22. The Special Action Forces (FAES) were a tactical force of the PNB specialized in the fight against crime and terrorism, which were active between 2017 and 2022.<sup>39</sup> According to several sources, the FAES and its operations were a continuation of the OLP/OLHP, as they shared their same purpose and modus operandi.<sup>40</sup>

23. According to different sources, the FAES were created on 26 April 2016<sup>41</sup> and announced officially on 14 July 2017, during a speech by President Maduro at the joint graduation ceremony of the National Experimental University of Security (UNES) of the PNB police training program.<sup>42</sup> At this event, President Maduro officially presented the FAES. Division General Alexis Escalona Marrero, Vice Minister of Prevention and Citizen Security, indicated that this force would begin its work with 641 officials,<sup>43</sup> and Major General Néstor Reverol, Minister of the Interior,<sup>44</sup> indicated that they would be an immediate reaction force to address criminal violence throughout the national territory. A few weeks later, in another graduation speech at the UNES, President Maduro offered “all the support for the FAES in its daily work of providing security to the people of Venezuela.”<sup>45</sup>

24. In the investigations for its previous reports, the mission was unable to identify the legal basis for the creation of the FAES, nor was it able to access their operating protocols, organizational charts or other similar documents.<sup>46</sup> As a result of its most recent investigations, the mission obtained information from an internal PNB source indicating that the Special Tactical Operations Unit (UOTE<sup>47</sup>); the Directorate of Intelligence and Strategy (DIE), which was renamed the Directorate of Strategic Intelligence;<sup>48</sup> the Directorate of Criminal Investigations (DIP) and the Directorate Against Organized Crime (DCDO)<sup>49</sup> were all linked to the FAES at some point after 2017, and then became part of the DAET (infra).<sup>50</sup>

25. In her 2019 report on the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, presented to the Human Rights Council, the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights referred to the operations of the FAES, concluding that there were reasonable grounds to believe that many of the extrajudicial executions committed prior to 2019 were perpetrated by the security forces, in particular the FAES. The High Commissioner expressed concern that the authorities could be using the FAES, as well as other security forces, as part of a policy of social control.<sup>51</sup> In this report, the High Commissioner called on the Venezuelan State to “[d]issolve the Special Action Forces of the Bolivarian National Police and establish an impartial and independent national mechanism, with the support of the international community, to investigate extrajudicial executions during security operations, ensure accountability of perpetrators and redress for victims”.<sup>52</sup>

26. During her oral update to the Human Rights Council in September of the same year, the High Commissioner noted that her office continued to document cases of possible extrajudicial executions committed by the FAES and indicated that an NGO had identified 57 new cases in Caracas, which reportedly took place during the month of July 2019.<sup>53</sup> On that occasion, the High Commissioner reiterated her recommendation to dissolve the FAES and expressed concern about the support for their actions at the highest level of the Government.<sup>54</sup>

27. As mentioned above, in its first report the mission concluded that the FAES was the most lethal State security force in 2019. The mission stated that it had reasonable grounds to believe that, together with the CICPC, the FAES carried out extrajudicial killings in the context of security operations against suspected criminals and criminal gangs, particularly in marginalised neighbourhoods.<sup>55</sup> In this regard, the mission concluded that, in such operations, both the FAES and the CICPC shot victims at close range in their vital areas, and in the official version submitted stated that the person had been killed in “a confrontation” or in “an exchange of fire”. The mission also identified a pattern of allegations that the police attempted to cover up the killings by simulating confrontations, including altering crime scenes, simulating shootings or escapes by the victims, and “planting” weapons, among others.<sup>56</sup>

28. While the most documented area of FAES intervention was in security operations against organized crime, the mission has reasonable grounds to believe that they also participated in operations and repressive actions against real or perceived opponents of the Government, committing violations and crimes. This conference room paper also addresses this dimension of the FAES’ operations (infra).

29. The progressive internal transformation of the FAES, which culminated in its dissolution, began in December 2020.<sup>57</sup> At that time, the regional FAES became part of the Strategic Intelligence Directorate (DIE) under the command of General Commissary Ronny González Montesinos.<sup>58</sup> Commissary Leonel García was then the Deputy Director of the DIE, while Commissaries Hugo Méndez and José Márquez served as Assistant Directors.<sup>59</sup> The FAES in Caracas remained under the command of its Director, Major Commissary José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez, seconded by Chief Commissary Richar Contreras, as Deputy Director, and Chief Commissary Florencio Escalona as Head of Operations.<sup>60</sup>

30. On 20 April 2022, new security operations, known as Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations, were launched with the specific objective of dismantling criminal organizations.<sup>61</sup> These operations were coordinated by the Strategic Operational Command of the Bolivarian National Armed Force (CEOFANB), with the participation of the Directorate Against Organised Crime (DCDO) and the Directorate of Criminal Investigations (DIP) of the PNB, as well as the National Anti-Extortion and Kidnapping Command (CONAS) of the Bolivarian National Guard (GNB).<sup>62</sup>

31. According to several people present during the arrests and raids carried out in the first Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations, the security agents who intervened identified themselves as members of the FAES.<sup>63</sup> In Operations Trueno (“Thunder”) I and II, carried out in Guárico State and Yaracuy State in April and May 2022 respectively, eight civilians were reported killed<sup>64</sup> and 56 detained.<sup>65</sup>

III. The Directorate of Strategic and Tactical Actions (DAET)

32. On 27 July 2022, the General Commander of the PNB, Major General Elio Estrada Paredes, presided over the presentation ceremony of the new Directorate of Strategic and Tactical Actions (DAET) at El Helicoide.<sup>66</sup> According to some sources, one of the first operations in which the DAET intervened was Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) III, carried out against alleged criminal gangs between 31 August and 5 September 2022.<sup>67</sup>

months and that it could only be extended once, for the same period of time, by means of a resolution of the Executive Vice-President.<sup>69</sup>

34. The restructuring of the police force was entrusted to a Restructuring Commission chaired by the Minister of the Interior, with the responsibility, inter alia, to submit the restructuring plan to the President of the Republic and to implement it in all organizational, functional and operational aspects of the police force.<sup>70</sup>

35. According to Decree number 4582, the restructuring plan was to contain the definition of the organizational, administrative and functional structure of the PNB, the reforms or changes needed to achieve greater efficiency in the fulfilment of goals and objectives, and the regulatory reforms necessary for the functioning of the police force.<sup>71</sup> The decree also specified that the restructuring should be carried out “within the framework of the parameters of respect for human rights”.<sup>72</sup>

36. On 11 October 2021 the Executive Vice-President approved resolution number 009/2021 extending the PNB restructuring process by six months.<sup>73</sup> The extension was justified by the complexity of the restructuring process and the need to fully comply with the principles of effectiveness, transparency, cooperation and efficiency provided for in the Constitution.<sup>74</sup>

37. Once the extended deadline expired on 13 April 2022, there was no public information on the outcome of the police restructuring, nor on the creation of new directorates or units. However, three months later, on 27 July 2022, the General Commander of the PNB presented the DAET as a new police directorate in the framework of the security plan Gran Misión Cuadrante de Paz (“Great Peace Quadrant Mission”).<sup>75</sup> The new Directorate was linked to Quadrant 2, against corruption,<sup>76</sup> and Quadrant 7, for the strengthening and expansion of the PNB.<sup>77</sup> At the inauguration of the DAET, the General Commander of the Police announced that the new directorate would be composed of the 10 special divisions for immediate action, in order to centralise all special operations.<sup>78</sup> As in the case of the FAES, the mission has not been able to access any norm, guideline, protocol or other document regulating the functioning and operations of the DAET, as such documents are not public.

B. Organization and functions

website (Table 1).<sup>79</sup> Despite the different changes that the PNB has undergone in its organization, the organizational chart continues to reflect the structure corresponding to the partial reform of the PNB's organic regulations carried out in August 2014<sup>80</sup> - i.e. before the creation of the FAES (2017) and the DAET (2022).

39. As it is an outdated organizational chart, it does not reflect the creation of other police directorates established after 2014, such as the Directorate Against Organised Crime (DCDO) or the General Directorate of Operations and Tactical Actions (DGOAT), which are analysed below. In this organizational chart, among the different components of the PNB, the Special Tactical Operations Unit (UOTE), and not the FAES, is the only entity in charge of special operations. The UOTE is at a second level ("advisory and support level") in the police chain of command, with the PNB General Commander above it, at the "top level", and the PNB General Commander above them, the Vice-Minister of the Integrated Police System. The Vice-Minister is above the Minister of the Interior in this chain of command.

40. At the third, or "substantive level", there are seven directorates reporting to the PNB Commander General: the Directorate of Land Transit, the Directorate of Strategic Intelligence, the Directorate of Criminal Investigations, the Directorate of Community Police, the Directorate of Public Order, the Directorate of Surveillance and Patrolling, and the Directorate of Migration Police.

41. According to a source interviewed by the mission, in the gradual process of transformation of the FAES, the Directorate Against Organised Crime (DCDO) - to which the Terrorism and Subversion Unit (Unidad de Terrorismo y Subversión<sup>81</sup>) was attached - was created, under Chief Commissary Richar Contreras.<sup>82</sup> The mission was unable to obtain official information regarding the establishment of the DCDO and its location within the PNB's organizational chart, as well as the date of its creation. The first public references to the DCDO date back to April 2021, when the DCDO logo was published on its social networks.<sup>83</sup> In May 2021, several media outlets referred to its creation and the replacement of the logos in the FAES offices with those of the DCDO.<sup>84</sup>

Organizational chart of the Bolivarian National Police<sup>85</sup>

Source: Mission’s own elaboration, based on the official organigram published at: <https://policianacionalbolivariana.org/Organigrama>

42. The 2021-2022 police reform brought about a change in the structure of the PNB, which is reflected in a second organizational chart (Table 2) that is not on the official websites, but which is in force at least from February 2023. The mission had access to this second organizational chart through a source with access to internal PNB information.<sup>86</sup>

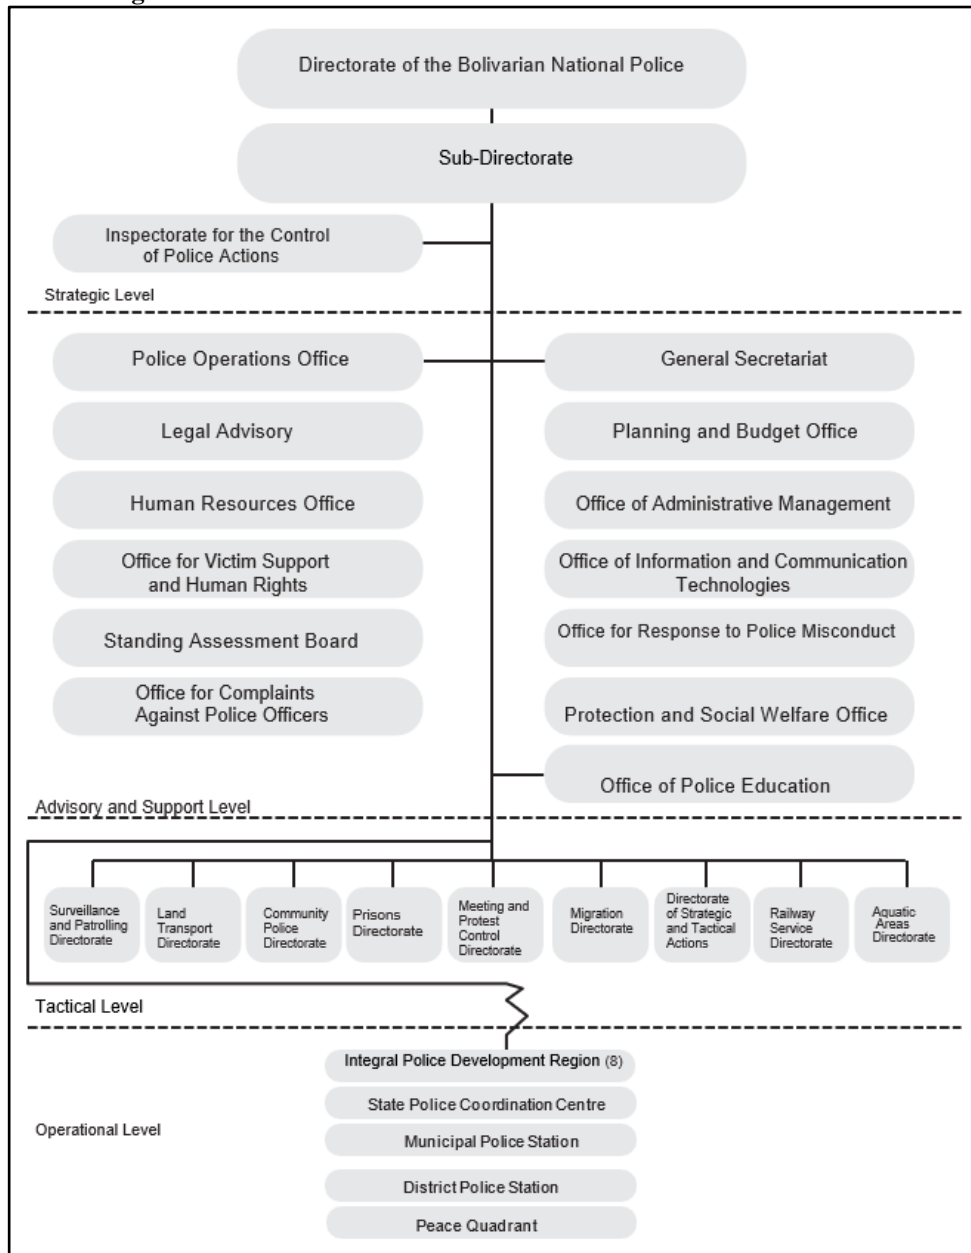

43. This second organigram shows changes in relation to the first organigram of 2014, such as the inclusion, at the “strategic level” (“top level” in the 2014 organigram) of a Sub-Directorate below the National Directorate of the PNB. The Sub-Directorate includes the Inspectorate for the Control of Police Action, which in the 2014 organizational chart was at the second level of the chain of command, together with other components that made up the “advisory and support level”.

Source: Mission’s own elaboration, based on document submitted to the mission.<sup>87</sup>

44. The “advisory and support level” of the current organigram contains 13 components, eight of which were also included in the 2014 organigram. It should be noted that the Special Tactical Operations Unit (UOTE), which, according to the 2014 organizational chart, reported directly to the PNB Commander General, is no longer reflected at this level.

45. The “tactical level” of the new organigram (formerly “substantive level”) contains nine Directorates, four of which also appeared in the 2014 organigram and five new ones, including the DAET, which reports directly to the PNB Deputy Directorate. At the last level, the “operational level” (called “geographically and functionally decentralized level” in the 2014 organigram), there are five components.

46. As for the DAET, the new organizational chart does not reflect the components of which it is comprised. However, based on its research,<sup>88</sup> the mission was able to reconstruct its internal structure as follows:

- At the first level, a Directorate, a Deputy Directorate, a Sub-Directorate and an Operations Directorate.
- At the second level, 10 special immediate action divisions, namely: Criminal Investigations Division (DIP), Special Tactical Operations Unit (UOTE), Motorised Division, Division Against Organised Crime (DCDO), with its Unit Against Terrorism and Subversion (UCTS), Strategic Vehicle Patrol Division, Canine Division (DIV-K9), Anti-Drug Division (DCD), Strategic Intelligence Division (DIE), Division Against Vehicle Theft and Robbery (DCHRV), and Division Against Kidnapping and Extortion (DCSE).<sup>89</sup>

47. This structure can be seen in an organizational chart that the mission prepared on the basis of the information gathered (Table 3, infra).

48. Compared to the PNB's 2014 organizational chart, the UOTE was absorbed by the DAET, as were the DIP and the DIE. The latter ceased to be "directorates" of the PNB to become "divisions" of the new DAET. For its part, the DCDO, which did not appear in the 2014 organizational chart as it was created later (supra), also became a division of the DAET.

49. Given the apparent functions of its 10 divisions, the DAET's mission does not seem to be limited to only those functions suggested by its official name ("strategic and tactical actions"). In fact, the components of this Directorate have functions related to the fight against organized crime (drugs, car theft, extortion, kidnapping), patrolling, intelligence and investigation, all typical and principal functions of a police force, thus turning the DAET into an enhanced Directorate. A source with access to internal PNB information told the mission that the power of the DAET is such that its commander has more influence than the PNB commander himself.<sup>90</sup>

C. Modus operandi

50. The FAES operations and actions that took place between 14 July 2017<sup>91</sup> and 26 July 2022 were mainly carried out in the framework of the fight against organized crime. However, the mission documented that FAES were also involved in the repression of protests and in the selective political repression of persons opposed to the government or perceived as such.<sup>92</sup> In both areas, the FAES followed a certain modus operandi which, in general, was reproduced in the actions of the DAET and the components of the PNB which were absorbed, as divisions, by this Directorate.

1. The modus operandi of the DAET in the framework of security operations to combat crime.

51. In this section, the mission analyses the modus operandi of the DAET vis-à-vis that of its predecessor the FAES in relation to its actions in the framework of anti-crime security operations. The analysis takes into account the mission's findings in its previous reports with regard to the FAES and what has been documented since 2022 with regard to the DAET and its participation in the so-called Trueno ("Thunder") Operations, which are discussed infra.

a) The modus operandi of FAES

52. For its 2020 report, the mission investigated 11 cases of killings by state security forces, in particular the FAES and the CICPC, in which 18 people were killed.<sup>93</sup>

<sup>91</sup> BBC World, Venezuela: the FAES, the controversial elite police created by Nicolás Maduro and accused of being an extermination group, 11 December 2019. Available at: <https://www.bbc.com/mundo/noticias-america-latina-50677411>.

53. The modus operandi of the FAES can be characterised as follows:
- Neighbourhoods cordoned off and residents ordered to stay indoors: In several cases, neighbourhoods were cordoned off and residents were ordered to stay indoors. Some residents were able to see relevant events or hear gunshots or shouts.<sup>94</sup>
  - Targets selected: police officers directly approached the houses where the targeted persons lived, suggesting prior intelligence work to identify and locate the targets.<sup>95</sup> In the cases investigated, the FAES kept files with information on the persons sought, including photos, names, nicknames, alleged crimes and the identity of the person implicating the potential victim.<sup>96</sup>
  - Time of the operations: the killings most often occurred at the victims' homes or in the neighbourhood, in several cases in the morning or late at night, at times when the people attacked were at home.<sup>97</sup>
  - Absence of warrants: security forces entered homes without producing a warrant.<sup>98</sup>
  - Separation of targets and their families: In almost all of the cases examined, the police removed the victim's family members (mainly women, the elderly and children) from their homes or isolated them from the priority individual in separate rooms or in separate locations within the same dwelling.<sup>99</sup> This was allegedly intended to prevent eyewitnesses to the events from being present.<sup>100</sup>
  - Mistreatment: during arrests, some family members, especially women, were insulted for being wives or mothers of the alleged "criminals".<sup>101</sup>
  - Clothing: most of the officers had their faces covered<sup>102</sup> and were dressed in black.<sup>103</sup>
  - Theft of property: in most cases, security agents took basic goods, such as food and clothing, as well as valuables, including cash, jewellery and electronic devices from victims' homes.<sup>104</sup>

- Shooting of victims in vital areas: The mission documented a pattern of point-blank shots to vital areas, including the head and chest, with one or two shots fired.<sup>105</sup>
- Official version: the official version of the events involving the FAES was consistently that the victims had been killed while resisting arrest, in a “confrontation” and/or during an exchange of fire.<sup>106</sup> The official version was contradicted by the versions of the relatives of those killed.<sup>107</sup>
- Custody: persons interviewed by the mission stated that the victims were last seen or heard when they were under the control of police officers, and that they were on a bed, or on the floor, with a hood over their heads or with their hands raised. In some cases, they saw the officers fire the fatal shot.<sup>108</sup>
- No criminal record: In 723 of the cases examined by the mission, the families of the victims stated that they had no criminal record.<sup>109</sup>

54. In its March 2021 oral update, the mission identified the continuation of patterns of extrajudicial executions carried out by the FAES.<sup>110</sup> One of the most lethal operations was known as the “La Vega massacre”, which took place from 7 to 9 January 2021. According to open sources, the operation resulted in the arbitrary deprivation of life of 23 people.<sup>111</sup> However, according to a former member of the FAES who was present during the operation and who was interviewed by the mission, 47 people were actually executed.<sup>112</sup>

55. According to the same source, the victims were selectively chosen and were mostly men between 18 and 35 years old, with tattoos, with judicial records or suspected of belonging to criminal gangs in the slums. Once these people were identified, they were isolated and taken to another location to be executed by the FAES brigades’ own officers. The corpses were taken directly to the morgue, without first being registered at the local hospital.<sup>113</sup>

b) The modus operandi of the DAET in the Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations

56. The mission analysed the seven Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations with a focus on those that took place after the creation of the DAET, i.e. the last five, carried out between August and October 2022. The first two operations, however, involved units that months later were integrated into the DAET, such as the DCDO, the DIP and the DIE.<sup>114</sup> The Minister of the

The operations took place in five Venezuelan states: Aragua (5 deaths),<sup>116</sup> Yaracuy (8 deaths),<sup>117</sup> Guárico (17 deaths),<sup>118</sup> Miranda (36 deaths)<sup>119</sup> and Anzoátegui (6 deaths).<sup>120</sup> According to the media, all operations involved massive participation of members of different security forces: the PNB through the FAES (until the second operation) and the DAET - through the personnel of its different divisions - the FANB, the GNB, the GNB’s CONAS, the CICPC, the SEBIN, the Miranda state police and the municipal police of Sucre.<sup>121</sup>

58. Although, as noted above, the objective of the operations was to dismantle different criminal organizations (e.g. “Tren de Aragua”, “Tren del Llano”, “Wisleysi”, “Carlos Capa”), in most cases the relatives of the deceased denied their loved ones’ links to these organizations.<sup>122</sup> In none of the Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations were any of the leaders of the gangs targeted by the security forces captured.<sup>123</sup>

59. The first two operations were carried out before the creation of the DAET. However, as explained above, they involved units that are now an integral part of this Directorate, such as the DCDO, the DIP and the DIE.<sup>124</sup>

60. According to open sources, Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) I was carried out against the “Tren del Llano” gang on 20 April 2022, in the state of Guárico.<sup>125</sup> The operation led to the arrest of 24 people.<sup>126</sup> Inhabitants of the localities where the actions were carried out indicated that the agents identified themselves as members of the FAES.<sup>127</sup> During the operation, illegal searches and seizures, arbitrary detentions, extortion and acts of torture, ill-treatment and gender-based violence against members of the affected communities were reported.<sup>128</sup> The operation was carried out by more than 800 officers belonging to the DCDO, the DIP, the DIE (currently attached to the DAET), other components of the PNB, the Bolivarian National Armed Forces (FANB), the National Anti-Extortion and Kidnapping Command (CONAS-GNB), and the CICPC.<sup>129</sup>

61. According to a media source, Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) II was carried out on 2 May 2022 against the gangs of “El Mimosín” and “Wilmer El Bachiller” in the municipalities of Veroes and Bruzual, in the state of Yaracuy.<sup>130</sup> The Operation resulted in the death of eight men, which, according to another news source, occurred in alleged clashes with security forces, and 31 people were arrested.<sup>131</sup> Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) II involved PNB officers, including those from the DIP (now attached to the DAET), the CICPC and the GNB’s CONAS.<sup>132</sup>

62. According to another media source, Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) III was the first operation in which the DAET participated as such. The Operation was carried out against the “Tren del Llano” and the “Banda del Zorrito”, between 31 August and 5 September 2022, in the municipalities of Barcelona and Anacao, in the state of Anzoátegui, and in the municipalities of Leonardo Infante (Valle de la Pascua), José Félix Ribas (Tucupido), José Tadeo Monagas and Pedro Zaraza (Zaraza), in the state of Guárico.<sup>133</sup> In this operation, according to sources consulted by the mission, 14 alleged members of the “Tren del Llano”

A source interviewed by an observatory of extrajudicial executions, whose account was consulted by the mission, described the modus operandi of the security forces involved in Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) III in the following terms: “they enter houses without a warrant, they search the whole house, as well as mobile phones. If there are people with criminal records, whether or not they are linked to the ‘Tren del Llano’ gang, they execute them. Everyone is being linked to the gang and that is not the case. The officials act and then investigate. They come to kill”.<sup>140</sup>

66. The NGO PROVEA documented an increase in the number of women killed in the Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations compared to the OLPs/OLHPs. According to PROVEA, this increase is allegedly associated with the practice of detaining women who are romantically linked to gang leaders, and executing them if the gang leader is not found.<sup>159</sup>

2. The modus operandi of the DAET in the context of selective repression

67. Along with security operations, the mission documented the involvement of DAET in acts of selective repression since its creation in July 2022. Within this framework, the mission corroborated that there is continuity between the ways in which the new Directorate, and particularly the pre-existing components of the PNB that were absorbed by this Directorate, acted with those of its predecessor, the FAES.

a) FAES modus operandi

68. In its previous reports, the mission investigated a series of acts constituting crimes and human rights violations committed by PNB officers in the context of selective political repression. In several cases, the mission was unable to identify to which directorate, unit or component of the PNB the officers involved belonged.<sup>160</sup>

69. In other cases, however, particularly in cases of arbitrary detention, the mission was able to determine that the officers belonged to the FAES. Indeed, in its 2020 report, the mission indicated that in detentions involving SEBIN, this security force occasionally acted together with the FAES.<sup>161</sup> It also found that certain arbitrary detentions were carried out by FAES officers, who subsequently handed the detainees over to SEBIN, whose officers interrogated and tortured them.<sup>162</sup> In the case of Gilber Caro, the mission concluded that it had reasonable grounds to believe that FAES officials perpetrated his third arbitrary detention in December 2019, as well as his subsequent short-term enforced disappearance.<sup>163</sup>

70. In its 2022 report, the mission again identified cases in which FAES members occasionally participated alongside SEBIN members in the detention of persons opposed to or perceived as such.<sup>164</sup> In contrast, the DGCIM normally carried out arrests alone, although on a significant number of occasions it was supported by other security forces, including the FAES.<sup>165</sup>

71. The mission also gathered evidence that FAES officers were involved in joint counter-insurgency operations in connection with alleged armed attempts to overthrow the government. In June 2020, President Maduro presided over a public ceremony to decorate the officers responsible for Operation Negro Primero (“The First Black”, in reference to Venezuelan war hero Pedro Camejo) (executed in response to Operation Gedeón aimed at overthrowing the Government).<sup>166</sup> In that act, President Maduro referred to “a special task force made up of the FAES, SEBIN, and DGCIM to act jointly with the Bolivarian Shield and the Bolivarian National Armed Forces in the face of any terrorist attack”.<sup>167</sup> In this tribute, the President decorated officers who would go on to assume high positions in the chain of command of the FAES and, later, the DAET: Director General of the Bolivarian National Police, Elio Estrada Paredes;<sup>168</sup> Director of the FAES, José Miguel Domínguez<sup>169</sup> (later Director of the DAET); General Commissary Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos<sup>170</sup> (later Deputy Director of the DAET); and Chief Commissary Leonel Alberto García Rivas (later Deputy Director of the DAET). Also decorated was Chief Inspector Fray Jesús García Pérez, a former FAES officer who is currently in charge of the Special Tactical Operations Unit (UOTE)<sup>171</sup> of the DAET.

72. Between 2020 and July 2022, the date of the creation of the DAET, the mission was able to identify that officers from the FAES or from components of the PNB, which became divisions of the DAET, such as the DIP or the DIE, were involved in human rights violations and crimes in the framework of selective repression (see other conference room paper on restrictions to civic space)<sup>172</sup>.

73. In the case of the arbitrary detention and short-term enforced disappearance of Carla Da Silva, which occurred between 5 and 15 May 2020, the victim was interrogated at the FAES headquarters in La Quebradita, Caracas, by the then Director of the FAES and later Director of the DAET, Miguel Domínguez (see other conference room paper on restrictions to civic space<sup>173</sup>). Another FAES official, Vladimir Rodríguez Cordero, was denounced by Da Silva as the official who ordered and participated in her torture.<sup>174</sup> In the case of Karen Hernández, detained since the same date as Da Silva at the FAES headquarters in La Quebradita, FAES officials committed ill-treatment and threats of rape against the victim.<sup>175</sup> It should be noted that both women, after initially being held for three days in the FAES facilities, were handed over to SEBIN and detained in El Helicoide.<sup>176</sup>

74. The mission also investigated the arbitrary detention of Javier Tarazona, Rafael Tarazona, Omar de Dios García and Jhonny Romero on 2 July 2021. The detention was carried out by FAES and SEBIN officials in the city of Coro, Falcón State.<sup>177</sup> After being temporarily detained at the FAES headquarters in Coro, the four persons were transported to Caracas and handed over to SEBIN to be held at their detention centre in El Helicoide.<sup>178</sup>

75. In the context of the “Gringo Espía” case, one of the persons arbitrarily arrested without a warrant by members of the FAES on 12 September 2020 was Ivonne Coromoto Barrios Finol, who was detained at the FAES headquarters in San Francisco, Maracaibo, and suffered ill-treatment, sexual harassment and an attempted rape.<sup>179</sup> She was subsequently transferred to a cell at another FAES headquarters in Caracas and finally handed over to the DGCIM, who detained her in the Boleíta detention centre.<sup>180</sup>

76. In the case of the arbitrary detention of Roland Carreño, he was arbitrarily detained by officers of the Criminal Investigations Directorate (Dirección de Investigaciones Penales, DIP), attached to the PNB, on 26 October 2020.<sup>181</sup> Carreño's detention was linked to his political participation in the opposition party Voluntad Popular. Carreño was transferred to El Helicoide, where he is currently detained in connection with the departure from the country of Voluntad Popular leader Leopoldo López.<sup>182</sup>

b) The modus operandi of the DAET and its components

77. In only one of the cases of targeted repression investigated by the mission to date were the perpetrators DAET officers.<sup>183</sup> In relation to other cases prior to the creation of the DAET in July 2022, the mission identified the involvement of police units that later became part of this police directorate.

78. As documented by the mission in the other conference room paper accompanying the mission's report, Néstor Astudillo, a trade union leader and member of the Red Flag political party, was arbitrarily detained on 6 July 2022<sup>184</sup>. The four agents who carried out the arrest wore jackets with PNB DIP insignia, who forcibly entered Astudillo's home without presenting any arrest warrant or search warrant.<sup>185</sup> Astudillo was detained at the PNB police headquarters in La Quebradita.<sup>186</sup>

79. Another trade union leader, Emilio Negrín, was arrested on 5 July 2022 by DGCIM officials, according to the source interviewed by the mission.<sup>187</sup> Negrín was taken to the PNB headquarters in La Quebradita, where officials from the Strategic Intelligence Directorate (Dirección de Inteligencia Estratégica, DIE) seized his mobile phone for analysis.<sup>188</sup>

80. A third union leader and Red Flag activist, Alonso Meléndez, was also arrested on 5 July 2022. Meléndez was arrested at his residence in Santa Cruz de los Taques by a contingent of police wearing bulletproof vests with DIE insignia.<sup>189</sup> According to testimony gathered by the mission, Meléndez was first taken to La Quebradita, located in the San Martín neighbourhood of Caracas, and later, on 8 July, to the PNB detention centre located in La Yaguara, San Martín de Caracas.<sup>190</sup> There, Meléndez was subjected to threats and ill-treatment by PNB officers.<sup>191</sup>

81. Based on the above cases, the mission has reasonable grounds to believe that the FAES, until its disbandment in July 2022, as well as other components of the FAES and the PNB that subsequently became part of the DAET, carried out arbitrary detentions of persons opposed or perceived to be opposed to the Government, arbitrarily detained them in the PNB facilities of La Quebradita and La Yaguara, and ill-treated them while in their custody. The mission also has reasonable grounds to believe that, in some cases, these bodies handed over the detainees to other State security bodies, which, on occasion, also subjected them to torture or ill-treatment.

82. The mission also investigated the case of José Antonio Cádiz Morales, a health unionist who in 2022 took part in the mobilisations to protest against the ONAPRE directive,<sup>192</sup> and in 2023 in the protests of nurses, teachers, pensioners and senior citizens.<sup>193</sup>

Cádiz was the victim of arbitrary detention and torture in August 2023.<sup>194</sup> On 21 August 2023, officers of the Motorised Division of the DAET detained him on the street while he was going to his home with two other people.<sup>195</sup> While they were released almost immediately, Cádiz was taken hooded and held at gunpoint to an unidentified facility in the city of Caracas, where he was arbitrarily detained for more than 24 hours. DAET officials, along with others who identified themselves as members of the DGCIM and SEBIN, subjected Cádiz to acts of torture while interrogating him. Cádiz, who was accused of being a “terrorist”, was beaten on his face and chest, and electricity was applied to his genitals, while he was questioned about other trade union leaders and political figures of Voluntad Popular and shown their photographs.<sup>196</sup> The officials threatened Cádiz with death, and when he was released on the night of 22 August 2023, they told him that he already knew what would happen to him if he continued to participate in the protests.<sup>197</sup>

83. The mission has reasonable grounds to believe that José Antonio Cádiz was arbitrarily detained by officials of the DAET and that he was subjected to torture by officials of this same directorate of the PNB, as well as by other officials of the DGCIM and SEBIN,<sup>198</sup> because he was a trade unionist protesting against the Government, and to extract information from him about trade union and political leaders of the opposition. Based on this case, the mission has reasonable grounds to believe that, like the FAES in the recent past, the DAET uses practices of selective repression against persons opposed or perceived as such, and that it acts alone or together with other State security forces in the perpetration of human rights violations and crimes.

D. Command positions

84. For this conference room paper, the mission investigated the chain of command of the DAET, from its creation in July 2022 until 5 June 2023. Since this cut-off date, there have been a series of changes to the chain of command of the PNB and the DAET,<sup>199</sup> including up to the time of finalising this conference room paper. The new command positions are identified throughout the following section.

85. The mission has reasonable grounds to believe that the DAET is led by former FAES officials, including some of its directors.<sup>200</sup> At the top of the PNB chain of command is the Minister of the Interior, Chief Admiral Remigio Ceballos Ichaso, followed by the Director of the PNB, Major General Elio Ramón Estrada Paredes,<sup>201</sup> and the Assistant Director of the PNB, Brigadier General Rubén Darío Santiago Servigna.<sup>202</sup>

86. According to a source interviewed by the mission, the following positions and officials - all male - held the top positions in the chain of command as of 5 June 2023:<sup>203</sup>

- Director, Major Commissary José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez;
- Deputy Director, General Commissary Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos;
- Assistant Director, Chief Commissary Leonel Alberto García Rivas; and
- Head of Operations, Chief Commissary Florencio Ramón Escalona.

88. Of the 15 persons identified as commanders and mid-level commanders of the DAET who appear in the following organigram (Table 4), at least 10 were members of the FAES (marked with an orange circle), as well as other State security forces (marked with a blue circle).<sup>215</sup> Of these 10 persons, José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez,<sup>216</sup> Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos,<sup>217</sup> and Ronny Fernando González Montesinos<sup>218</sup> were identified by the mission in its previous reports, with reasonable grounds to believe that they were responsible for human rights violations and crimes.

Between 2014 and 2015, he was Vice Minister for Defence Planning and Development of the Ministry of Defence, and Commander of the Infantry of the Naval Operations Command of the General Command of the Bolivarian Navy.<sup>221</sup> Between July 2015 and July 2021, Ceballos served as Second Commander and Chief of Staff of the General Command of the Bolivarian Militia, Head of the “Integral Security and Defence Plan” of the Gran Misión de Abastecimiento Soberano (“Great Mission of Sovereign Supply”), and Commander of the Strategic Operational Command of the Bolivarian National Armed Forces (CEOFANB),<sup>222</sup> in charge of the planning, programming, leadership, execution and joint operational strategic control of the FANB, reporting directly to the President of the Republic, in his capacity as Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces.<sup>223</sup>

2. Senior officials of the DAET

a) Major Commissary José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez, Director of the Directorate of Strategic and Tactical Actions and current Asistente Director of the PNB.

96. José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez, alias “Miguelito”, was born in Venezuela on 17 October 1979.<sup>252</sup> His name was first made public when it became known that SEBIN officials were involved in the murder of Bassil Da Costa, in the centre of Caracas, during the protest of 12 February 2014.<sup>253</sup> At that time, according to a media source, Domínguez Ramírez was the leader of the Colectivo Revolucionario Continente (“Continent Revolutionary Colectivo”), which operated in the neighbourhoods of Catia and 23 de Enero, west of Caracas, and was attached to the SEBIN Intelligence Directorate.<sup>254</sup> He also held the title of Commissary in the Municipal Police of Libertador and the Caracas Police.<sup>255</sup>

97. According to a source interviewed by the mission, Domínguez Ramírez was already known as “Miguelito” since the time he was the bodyguard of Freddy Bernal, former mayor of the Libertador municipality of Caracas, who was also the National Chief of the Local

Administration and Production Committees (CLAP) and Presidential Commissioner for the Transformation of the Police System.<sup>256</sup> In 2018, when Bernal was appointed “protector” of Táchira (an unofficial position parallel to that of Governor), he promoted “Miguelito” from Director of Operations of the FAES in Táchira State to Head of the FAES in the same state.<sup>257</sup>

98. According to a source interviewed by the mission, in July 2018 Domínguez Ramírez was appointed Assistant Director of the FAES at the national level, a position he held until 30 April 2019.<sup>258</sup> On that date, the then Director of the FAES, GNB Lieutenant Colonel Rafael Bastardo Mendoza, was appointed with diplomatic functions in Cuba and Domínguez Ramírez was then promoted to the position of Director of the FAES.<sup>259</sup> In December 2020, the regional FAES became part of the Directorate of Intelligence and Strategy (DIE) of the PNB.<sup>260</sup> However, according to open sources, Domínguez Ramírez reportedly remained in command of the FAES in Caracas.<sup>261</sup>

99. During his tenure as Director of the FAES, Miguelito received various awards from President Maduro, including a decoration for his participation in Operation Negro Primero (“The First Black”, in reference to Venezuelan war hero Pedro Camejo) Aplastamiento del Enemigo (“Crushing the Enemy”),<sup>262</sup> in which eight people died and 12 were arrested.<sup>263</sup>

100. At the time of the creation of the DAET, on 27 July 2022, the General Commander of the PNB appointed José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez as the new director. Domínguez Ramírez was therefore in command of this Directorate during Operations Trueno (“Thunder”) III to VII. When the new Director of the PNB, Brigadier General Rubén Santiago Servigna,<sup>264</sup> took over, Domínguez was appointed Assistant Director of the PNB, a position he holds simultaneously with that of Director of the DAET.<sup>265</sup>

- b) General Commissary Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos, DAET Consultant until January 2023, Deputy Director of the DAET until July 2023. Current Assistant Director of the DAET.

102. Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos was born in Venezuela on 3 July 1970.<sup>267</sup> He joined the State security agencies in 2007, as a member of the Directorate of Intelligence Services (DISIP), which in 2009 was renamed the SEBIN.<sup>268</sup>

103. In the SEBIN, Calderón Chirinos was Director of the Strategic Investigations Directorate.<sup>269</sup> In October 2018 he was removed from his post by then Director of the SEBIN, General Manuel Ricardo Christopher Figuera, due to a large number of allegations of ill-treatment and torture of detainees at the El Helicoide detention centre.<sup>270</sup>

See also Monitoreamos, ¿Quién es Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos, el "policía malo" que dirigía las torturas en el SEBIN de El Helicoide, 21 September 2022. 104. In its 2022 report, the mission concluded that during his command of the SEBIN's Strategic Investigations Directorate, Calderón Chirinos was alleged to have issued orders to his subordinates to perpetrate acts of torture against detainees at El Helicoide.<sup>271</sup> The mission stated that it had reasonable grounds to believe that if his subordinates refused, Calderón Chirinos beat them to instil respect, leading officials to carry out orders and apply electric shocks or put plastic bags over detainees' heads to extract information from them.<sup>272</sup> The mission also found that Calderón Chirinos engaged in extortion<sup>273</sup> and disobeyed orders to release or transfer detainees.<sup>274</sup>

105. A source interviewed by the mission, who worked under Calderón Chirinos in the SEBIN's Strategic Investigations Directorate, claimed to have received orders during the 2014, 2017 and 2019 protests to arrest a minimum number of detainees per day, regardless of who they were.<sup>275</sup> To carry out these orders, brigades of the Strategic Investigations Directorate went out to arrest people who were at the guarimbas (protests). The source indicated that detainees were tortured by means of beatings, insertion of pieces of wood in the anus and electric shocks to the genitals to make them incriminate themselves as members of subversive groups participating in the protests or to obtain information on who was leading the protests.<sup>276</sup>

106. The same source indicated that, following orders from Calderón Chirinos, persons detained in El Helicoide for political reasons or for common crimes were placed in cells that were permanently illuminated with white light, with the air conditioning at a very low temperature and where they were made to drink hot water to make them sick. Once the detainees requested medical attention, they were transferred to the infirmary of El Helicoide where they were injected with medication to make them even sicker.<sup>277</sup> In the case of those detained in the cells of the SEBIN headquarters in Plaza Venezuela known as La Tumba ("The Tomb"), they were beaten, by order of Calderón Chirinos, with sheets and padded gloves with the intention of hurting and stunning the victims without leaving visible marks on their bodies.<sup>278</sup>

107. The source interviewed by the mission also indicated that the brigades of SEBIN's Strategic Investigations Directorate participated in so-called "cleansing operations", in which both previously identified targets, and innocent people who were in the places where these operations took place, were killed.<sup>279</sup> In those operations, Calderón Chirinos ordered the agents to plant evidence, such as drugs or weapons, in order to incriminate the targets or to portray that the officers had acted in legitimate self-defence.<sup>280</sup>

108. In April 2019, the then Director of the SEBIN, Cristopher Figuera - who had dismissed Calderón - went into exile after joining Operation Libertad ("Liberty") led by Juan Guaidó.<sup>281</sup> President Maduro appointed Chief General Gustavo González López as the new Director of the SEBIN,<sup>282</sup> who, in turn, reinstated Calderón Chirinos in the SEBIN as Director of the Strategic Investigations Directorate at El Helicoide.<sup>283</sup> The mission's 2020 and 2022 reports established that acts of torture were committed at the El Helicoide detention centre.<sup>284</sup>

Calderón Chirinos remained in the SEBIN until 2020,<sup>285</sup> participating in joint operations with other security agencies.<sup>286</sup>

109. According to a source interviewed by the mission, in 2021 Calderón Chirinos joined the PNB as a legal consultant to the FAES units and, from 2022 onwards, as a consultant to the different divisions of the DAET.<sup>287</sup> Calderón Chirinos participated in several working groups of the State security forces as a representative of the DAET.<sup>288</sup> Subsequently, Calderón Chirinos became Deputy Director of the DAET<sup>289</sup> and Director General of the Police Service of the Vice-Ministry of the Integrated Police System (VISIPOL).<sup>290</sup> Another source interviewed by the mission reported that in 2023 Calderón Chirinos was appointed Assistant Director of the DAET,<sup>291</sup> his last position of which the mission is aware.

a) General Commissary Ronny Fernando González Montesinos, Head of the Criminal Investigations Division (DIP)

116. Ronny González Montesinos was born in Venezuela on 14 May 1974. In 1995 he was an officer of the DISIP (subsequently the SEBIN).<sup>309</sup> In 2011, with the rank of Assistant Commissary, he was part of the Unified Regional Command of Extortion and Kidnapping under the Counterintelligence Directorate of the SEBIN.<sup>310</sup> Between 2014 and 2019 he served as Coordinator of Field Investigations of the Strategic Investigations Directorate of the SEBIN,<sup>311</sup> a period in which the largest number of human rights violations by this intelligence service occurred.<sup>312</sup>

117. González Montesinos was identified by the mission in its 2022 report as one of the main perpetrators of human rights violations, as was Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos, under whose command he worked at El Helicoide. The mission found reasonable grounds to believe that González Montesinos gave orders to his subordinates to carry out intelligence work against real or perceived opponent to the Government, to then arbitrarily detained them, and that he was directly involved in the execution of these actions.<sup>313</sup> The mission also found that González Montesinos failed to comply with orders to release or transfer detainees to other

IV. Conclusions and Recommendations

A. Conclusions

136. The mission has reasonable grounds to believe that, despite its repeated recommendations and those made by other international human rights mechanisms, the Government of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela has not taken effective measures to dismantle the security structures which, in the past, were involved in serious human rights violations and crimes. These facts were previously documented by the mission in the context of both targeted repression and security operations against criminality.

137. In the case of the FAES, its functions, command and personnel were taken over by the DAET, a new police "super-directorate" created and strengthened in the context of the 2022 PNB reform. Indeed, the mission has reasonable grounds to believe that there was no actual dissolution of the FAES, but rather it was transformed into a new entity: the DAET.

138. In the process of transition between the two bodies, several commanders and operational personnel have been transferred, including officials who were identified by the mission for their involvement in human rights violations and crimes against humanity documented in the mission's previous reports, which should be investigated by the competent authorities. The following table illustrates the transition of officials from the FAES and other security forces to the DAET, and reflects the positions held so far, or in some cases until 5 June 2023.

139. Ten of these individuals were part of the FAES and four - José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez, Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos, Ronny González Montesinos and Williams Mieres Aponte – belonged previously to SEBIN, an agency also linked to serious human rights violations and crimes.<sup>380</sup> The mission has reasonable grounds to believe that José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez, Director of the DAET and current Assistant Director of the

PNB; Carlos Alberto Calderón Chirinos, former Deputy Director and current Assistant Director of the DAET; and Ronny González Montesinos, Head of the Criminal Investigations Division of the DAET, were involved in human rights violations and crimes against humanity documented in the mission's previous reports. Both Calderón Chirinos and González Montesinos, who were linked to SEBIN's Directorate of Strategic Investigations, were responsible for ordering their subordinates to carry out acts of torture while they were in charge of that Directorate in El Helicoide, as well as for participating in arbitrary detentions and extortion against detainees.<sup>381</sup>

140. Instead of being investigated for their alleged responsibility in human rights violations and crimes and, if appropriate, punished, these persons have been decorated and promoted by the Government, achieving positions of greater responsibility and relevance. In the case of Major Commissary José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez, in addition to currently holding the position of Director of the DAET, according to the latest information available to the mission, he was appointed Assistant Director of the PNB in July 2023.<sup>382</sup> In the case of General Commissary Alberto Calderón Chirinos, along with his responsibility as Director General of the Police Service of the Vice-Ministry of the Integrated Police System (VISIPOL), according to a source consulted by the mission, he is currently serving as Assistant Director of the DAET.<sup>383</sup> This is also the case of Ronny González Montesinos, who since July 2022 has been the Head of the Criminal Investigations Division of the DAET, according to a source interviewed by the mission.<sup>384</sup>

141. The mission has reasonable grounds to believe that, along with senior and mid-level commanders, some of the FAES operational personnel also became part of the various divisions of the DAET. Some of the directorates previously linked to the FAES - the DCDO, the DIE,<sup>385</sup> the DIP and the UOTE<sup>386</sup> - became an integral part of the DAET, even keeping their acronyms and logos.

142. The conversion of the former FAES into the DAET did not entail a change in the way its components and personnel operated, either in the framework of security operations against organized crime or in the framework of the selective repression of real or perceived opponents. In the case of security operations, the mission has reasonable grounds to believe that the modus operandi of the Operations Trueno (“Thunder”) coincides, in general terms, with the modus operandi of the OLP/OLHP and the FAES operations against crime. These are large-scale joint or mixed operations, with hybrid civilian-military command, involving different security agencies.

143. Along with the DAET divisions, some PNB directorates and other security agencies, including the FANB, the GNB - and within it, the CONAS -, the CICPC and SEBIN, were part of other operatives. In the first two operations, Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) I and Operation Trueno (“Thunder”) II, security agents, including officers from the DCDO, the DIE and the DIP, actually presented themselves as agents of the FAES.<sup>387</sup> The mission has reasonable grounds to believe that Interior Minister Remigio Ceballos played an important role in the planning and strategic direction of the Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations.<sup>388</sup>

144. In the case of selective repression, in its 2020 and 2022 reports, the mission found that: (i) the FAES participated, together with other security forces such as the SEBIN and the DGCIM, in arbitrary detentions;<sup>389</sup> (ii) that the FAES arbitrarily detained individuals and then handed them over to the SEBIN, which detained them in El Helicoide, and, in some cases, tortured them;<sup>390</sup> and that (iii) the FAES participated in cases of short-term enforced disappearances.<sup>391</sup> Some of these violations and crimes continued to be perpetrated by the FAES before its final dissolution in July 2022 and by components of the current DAET, including arbitrary detentions,<sup>392</sup> short-term enforced disappearances,<sup>393</sup> as well as torture and ill-treatment,<sup>394</sup> including sexual violence, as described in the other conference room paper on restrictions to civic space accompanying the mission’s report<sup>395</sup>.

145. Following the creation of the DAET, officials of this Directorate have also been involved in at least one case investigated by the mission, of arbitrary detention and torture of a trade unionist who was accused of being a terrorist and having connections with trade union leaders and opposition political leaders.<sup>396</sup> The mission has reasonable grounds to believe that, despite the change, the modus operandi of the PNB units and directorates that became divisions of the DAET has not changed.

146. The PNB, including the DAET, and other entities such as the CICPC, the GOES and the SEBIN, are substantively under the direction of the current Interior Minister, Admiral Remigio Ceballos Ichaso, which implies an important level of coordination between these entities. Remigio Ceballos, Minister of Interior since August 2021, played a key role in the transition between the FAES and the DAET. In its 2020 report, the mission linked Remigio Ceballos, who at the time was Second Strategic Commander of the FANB’s Strategic

Operational Command (CEOFANB), to different military operations in which violations and crimes took place, including the Barlovento security operation in October 2016,<sup>397</sup> Plan República of May 2018,<sup>398</sup> and the repression of the military uprising in Cotiza in January 2019.<sup>399</sup>

147. Like the OLP/OLPH and the FAES operations, the Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations, in which the DAET and its divisions played a predominant role, were accompanied by numerous public allegations of human rights violations and crimes, such as extrajudicial executions and other arbitrary deprivations of life, torture and cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment, arbitrary detentions and short-term enforced disappearances. The media reported that at least 72 people died and 345 people were detained as a result of the seven Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations.<sup>400</sup>

148. These figures attest to the large scale and high lethality rate of these operations. Allegations of persistent violations and crimes, whose patterns substantially coincide with those previously documented by the mission - including extrajudicial executions of persons who did not resist arrest as a way of demonstrating “results” in the fight against criminality<sup>401</sup> - deserve to be thoroughly investigated.

149. The Trueno (“Thunder”) Operations represent one part of a broader pattern of security plans and operations aimed at combating criminality within the security framework defined by the 2018 Gran Misión Cuadrante de Paz (“Great Peace Quadrant Mission”). Several other recent security plans and operations (such as Operations Gran Cacique Indio Guaicaipuru I and II, in July 2021 and February 2022 respectively) continue to have a significant death toll.

150. Although these have declined in recent years, the number of deaths by State security forces remains high: between 824<sup>402</sup> and 1240 people<sup>403</sup> in 2022, depending on the sources, which would represent a decrease of 41%<sup>404</sup> and 47%<sup>405</sup> respectively compared to the figures collected in the previous year. Despite the decrease in the number of deaths in security operations, the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, according to the organization Monitor Fuerza Letal, continued to have the highest rate of deaths by security forces in Latin America in 2022 (between 6 and 9.5 civilians per 100,000 inhabitants).<sup>406</sup>

151. In its 2020 report, the mission concluded that it had reasonable grounds to believe that since at least 2014 State security forces had engaged in human rights violations and crimes against humanity as part of a State policy to combat criminality, including extrajudicial executions of alleged “criminals”.<sup>407</sup> The migration of commanders and operational personnel from the former FAES to the current DAET; the similarity of the modus operandi between past security operations and more recent operations; the alleged contributions of high-ranking Government officials to these operations, as well as the persistence of high lethality rates in the actions of the security forces, are factors that seem to indicate the continuity of this policy. This possible continuity needs to be further investigated.

152. Such an investigation should include all PNB commanders, including Interior Minister Remigio Ceballos Ichaso and Commanders Elio Ramón Estrada Paredes, Rubén

Darío Santiago Servigna and José Miguel Domínguez Ramírez, for allegations of human rights violations and crimes committed by all components of the Bolivarian National Police from 2014 to the present. These investigations should lead to respective sanctions and removal from office of the relevant PNB senior commanders, including those of the DAET and its divisions, in order to ensure the non-repetition of these practices.

B. Recommendations

1. Recommendations to the Government

153. The mission recommends the Government of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela to:

Accountability and justice for victims

a) Conduct prompt, effective, thorough, independent, impartial and transparent investigations into human rights violations and crimes committed in the context of security operations and targeted repression against real or perceived opponents of the Government, in particular against those identified in this conference room paper, in line with international human rights norms and standards.

b) Guarantee that investigations conducted cover both direct and indirect perpetrators and accomplices, at all levels of the chain of command, with respect to all violations and crimes documented in all of the mission's reports, including the 2023 report, and the respective conference room papers.

c) Guarantee that direct and indirect victims receive adequate reparations taking into account the gender dimensions of the harm they have suffered, and receive effective protection measures.

Security framework

d) Ensure that security forces are regulated by laws that clearly describe their powers, establish oversight mechanisms and comply with international human rights standards. Ensure that these laws are strictly enforced.<sup>408</sup>

e) Guarantee that security plans and policies clearly establish that the human rights of suspects and all persons present during security operations must be respected by issuing precise orders on the objective of the operation.<sup>409</sup>

f) Train security forces on human rights standards, including the different divisions of the DAET involved in security operations, especially on specific areas of concern such as extrajudicial killings, torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment and sexual and gender-based violence.<sup>410</sup>

g) Cease large-scale security operations, as well as joint military-police operations, such as those carried out during Operations Trueno ("Thunder"), to prevent violations and crimes.<sup>411</sup>

Extrajudicial killings

h) Collect and publicly disseminate reliable and disaggregated official statistics on arbitrary deprivations of life attributable to State security forces, in order to contribute to the analysis of patterns of abuses, the identification and investigation of specific police units, officials and individuals involved.<sup>412</sup>

i) Issue immediate directives from the top level of the Executive for the police forces, in particular the DAET, to put an end to extrajudicial killings, as well as police cover-ups.<sup>413</sup>

j) Consider establishing a prosecutorial unit within the Public Prosecutor's Office to investigate crimes of extrajudicial killings by the police, as well as police cover-ups.<sup>414</sup>

k) Guarantee that the activities of the police, and in particular any specialised entities such as the DAET and its divisions, are required to continuously record the activities of their officials, as well as establish the use of body cameras in the execution of their duties.<sup>415</sup>

Reform of the DAET

l) Reform the DAET and attached divisions, including its senior and middle command, and establish an independent oversight mechanism to ensure real, effective and lasting change in its practices.

m) Conduct a vetting process for personnel attached to the DAET at all levels, including its senior and middle command, to ensure that none of these individuals have been involved in violations and crimes as documented by the mission, and initiate relevant investigations to ensure that these individuals are held accountable in accordance with international human rights standards.

n) Suspend members of the DAET while they are investigated in relation to their alleged responsibility for violations and crimes.

o) Prevent persons allegedly responsible for violations and crimes from being eligible for promotions, decorations, new public posts and other benefits.

2. Recommendations to the international community

154. States should consider taking legal action against individuals responsible for the violations and crimes identified in this conference room paper and in previous mission reports, in accordance with their national legislation and applicable international principles.

155. States, in the framework of bilateral and multilateral dialogue and negotiations with the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, should take into account whether the Government has implemented effective measures to guarantee the necessary changes in the leadership and performance of its security forces, especially in the entities considered in this conference room paper.

156. The Office of the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court should take into account in its investigation possible crimes against humanity committed in the context of the targeted repression of real or perceived opponents to the Government, and in the context of security operations, including the individuals identified in this conference room paper, in particular those with medium and high levels of responsibility.
